

Leading European Infocommunications Vendor and Solution Provider Offers Business Collaboration

Iskratel Adds Veeting Rooms to its Product Portfolio

Kranj and Zurich, January 18th, 2016. Iskratel, a successful and innovative European telecommunications solutions provider, integrates a white-label version of Veeting Rooms into Iskratel Unified Communications solution. The new product empowers Iskratel customers with professional WebRTC communications and advanced business collaboration features. This new partnership provides Veeting with access to Eastern European and Central Asian markets.

Veeting Rooms is a WebRTC communications and collaboration platform that facilitates real-time video conferencing in web browsers. This web-based solution provides professional business users with user-friendly team-collaboration features. Veeting licenses the Swiss-made product as a white-label solution to service providers and global resellers.

Filling the Gap

"Veeting Rooms is a future-proof collaboration platform that gives business users an opportunity to boost their efficiency and productivity with enriched communications. We believe that the product enhances Iskratel Unified Communications (UC) solution by providing new value-added services for which end users are willing to pay. Iskratel UC can be either hosted or offered as a SaaS from the Iskratel cloud. This ensures fast time to market and almost instant deployment", says Bojan Kriz, Head of Multimedia Solutions at Iskratel.

New Markets

"Partnering with Slovenian Iskratel is a huge opportunity for Veeting. It gives us access to new, fast growing markets across Eastern Europe and Central Asia. Our team is proud of this success and looks forward to working with Iskratel toward delivering high-value solutions to customers", says Fabian Bernhard, CEO of Veeting. "Iskratel is the first European partner that brings our solutions to these markets. We are honoured to have received this opportunity".

About Veeting AG

Founded in 2014 in Zurich, the privately owned company Veeting AG markets Veeting Rooms as an innovative all-around solution for web-based conferences. The Swiss service provides virtual meeting rooms that offer all the tools necessary for efficient conferences, including online presentations, data exchange, whiteboards, shared screens and minutes. Thanks to the WebRTC technology, these comprehensive functions are just as user friendly as the access to Veeting Rooms. Encrypted, highly secure audio and video conferences are accessible directly in the browser and without the previous installation of software. Available in multiple languages, the service is compatible with all major PC operating systems as well as with Android for mobile. The solution is licensed as a white label product to sales channels, service providers, resellers and system integrators.
